

$50,000,000 IN NEW MEX. MEAT

Nation's Food Supply Augmented With 600,000 New Mex. Cattle.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 8.—Six hundred thousand head of cattle were contributed by New Mexico the past year to solve the food problem for the nation, according to estimates of the State Council of Defense. Almost 2,000,000 head of sheep, 25,000,000 pounds of wool, 150,000 horses, hogs, poultry, dairy products, and even jack rabbits were contributed in addition, to a total value of $4,000,000 or more.

Contrary to popular impression, New Mexico raises three to four times as much food as it needs for itself. The total food production on range and farm in New Mexico last year totaling $10,000,000 or at least three times as much as the state consumes. The greatest single contribution was made by the cattlemen and that in products most needed.

That is one of the reasons for the convention held last month at Las Vegas of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse-growers' association being of special importance at this time. The cattlemen from every county of the state will be there and will give their aid toward solving problems of range and winter feeding, of marketing, of increasing the food supply by pressing into service every bit of grazing and feed that is procurable. The cattlemen will also present their grievances and will air their differences, for such exist. They are heavily taxed on grazing lands as well as on cattle, and contribute to state and county treasuries a large percent of the revenues. They say they are hampered by laws and regulations at times and often lack protection to which they are entitled.

LETTERS TO THE HERALD
All communications must bear the signature of the writer, but the name will be withheld if requested.

FOOD WASTAGE.
I read a communication in a recent issue of The Herald, signed "Smith," stating that El Paso hotels were not ahead of hotels in Kansas City in conserving food on New Year's night. The letter mentioned Hotels Munhach and Baltimore in Kansas City as having eliminated their New Year's eve festivities this year, and also said there was a "general movement among hotelmen" to cut down the New Year festivities this year.

This is a very laudable idea, I have received New York hotel publications asserting that there were larger crowds than ever before in the New York lobster palace and hotels New Year's eve and that for the first time in history, the Waldorf-Astoria put tables in "cocktail saloon" to care for the crowds.

From "Tavern Talk," a hotel publication in Kansas City, I also the following about the two hotels mentioned in "Smith's" letter to The Herald:

There was an unusually large New Year's eve crowd at the Munhach, and a part of the overflow from the Waldorf-Astoria put tables in "cocktail saloon" to care for the crowds.

At the Hotel Baltimore, the orchestra stopped playing at 9:30 but the dining rooms were crowded until a late hour. Both the Pompanian room and the Renaissance room had record breaking crowds.

The Pennant cafe in the Hotel Tilton, although manager Carl J. Hermonson says only the regular program was given, was crowded until the closing hour. There were crowds at the door, hoping that some one would leave so that they could be accommodated.

JEWS TURN OUT FOR U. S. DUTY

Three Percent of Armed Forces of that Religion, Says Cady Speaker.

Camp Cody, Bering, N. M., Feb. 8.—Over 60 of the Jewish soldiers out of more than 150 in this division participated with Jack Yellen, secretary of the Jewish board of welfare work in the opening of headquarters for this camp in the annexed officers' mess hall No. 1 in section 3. The opening was entirely informal, the plan being to get the Jewish soldiers acquainted and their reception of the patriotic speech of rabbi Jacob H. Landau of East Las Vegas, N. M. showed they were of the same class of Americans as the best in the division.

The gist of the rabbi's remarks was: "The Jewish soldier has a responsibility resting upon him, a patriotic responsibility to the country of which he is a citizen, and his responsibility as a Jew. He should acquire himself bravely, not only as an American, but as a Jew. We are Jews." This is displayed, if it was ever required to be displayed, by the fact that Jewish soldiers are only two percent of the population in the United States but a three percent of the American army and navy today.

Urges Bravery, Patriotism.
"Therefore, be you not only brave as your comrades, but braver; be you not only as patriotic as they, but more so. It so happens that Jews are judged as a whole by the acts of a few. One Jew's good and noble deed is as much more easily attached to us all. The provision confronting the soldiers of the Jewish faith is to so conduct themselves that the entire Jewish people can share in their glory."

Columbus Knight Gives Welcome.
L. J. Murphy, secretary of the Knights of Columbus here, spoke of the splendid feeling of cooperation represented and the Jewish board of welfare work and generously tendered the use of the hall of the former or any other assistance whenever needed by the latter.

Short talks were made by Lieut. L. R. Weiss, of field hospital company 125; Lieut. Rabiner, M. R. C. of the base hospital; Sgt. Maj. Isaac Miller and Sgt. Louis Klein, both of the 125th ammunition train, and Sgt. Bert Beer.

Cigars and cigarettes furnished by Deming merchants were a treat to the soldiers. Refreshments were also served.

Landau will hold religious services Friday night at this hall, commencing at 6:30 o'clock.

Registry Of Germans Probably Not Show More Than 100 Here

"When I pull the curtains down tomorrow night, it will be all off for the Germans in this city, as far as this office is concerned," said Joe Hunsinger, secretary to chief of police Charles E. Pollock, Friday. About 35 unregistered Germans have registered with the local chief, he said.

Saturday marks the closing of the registration. The law provided that the chief of police should register the Germans residing here during the week beginning Monday, February 4, and closing on the night of the 8th.

A large number of those who have registered were not known to be subjects of the Kaiser and there is no way of telling how many more there are here who have not registered, Mr. Hunsinger said.

Little Bobbie's Pa.
He Considers To Bobbie That Music Is Most Soothing Thing in the World When She Cries.

MISSUS ED-GAR STOKES
was over to our house last night & she brot her littel boy Sammie along to play with me, but he is only about three (3) years old & his legs is oftin short.

Sammie jest jure to go about with me, sed Missus Stokes, the deer littel man is so manly.

He is puffing awful hard, sed Pa; I think you waked him too fast. That is the trouble with the ladies wen they talk ther littel boys out for a wharf, sed Pa; they think the littel fellers were seven mile boots, sed Pa. I saw a lady shopping today, sed Pa, she had her littel boy along with her. She was walking like Weston used to walk, sed Pa, ax missus a hour & her littel boy was having a awful hard time to keep among ther present, sed Pa. I felt so sorry for the poor littel feller that I raised my hat to him & sed, & axed to carry him, but she sed he was perfectly abel to care for her own children, sed Pa, so I bowed my head slowly walked away. I bote to see a littel child out of wind, sed Pa.

It is a wonder to me, sed Missus Stokes, dat man grows peepid down sit out of wind talking. I am sure my child is taken care of anytime he is with his mother.

To be sure, to be sure, sed Pa. He is a fine, manly littel feller.

Sammie is teepid quite an axly, sed his mother, sed me, he is 6 years old, she said, if he cudden ax sum munny to give to the mishunaries. He gits some quaint notions.

I was the same way wen I was three years old, sed Pa, about ther mishunaries. Wen I got to be about four years old, tho, sed Pa, I knowed better, & after that I never gave them a cent.

Well, sed Missus Stokes, to Ma, I have a new recipe for War Bread. I thot maybe you wud like to try it.

I will eat no munnar war bread, sed Pa. If it is like the last we had, That must have been the kind Mister Sherman ate, sed Pa, wen he made his ax for dinner apob about ther mishunaries.

I have several good skeems for saving munny during the hard times sed Ma's friend.

If it is a seckret sed Pa, Bobbie & I will go out of the room ride away till you tell them to my wife, sed Pa. Nothing wud please me more than to have her lern to skimp, sed Pa. Cum, Bobbie, sed Pa, you & I will go in the othr room & play pleasin ax on the fongygraf.

So Pa took me in the othr room & began to play musick. Let me tell you, Bobbie, sed Pa, dat musick is the most soothin thing in the world espeshully wen yure mother has callers. She had her bath poor to smoth her savage breast, Pa sed and then Pa put a song on the masheen & it was kind of funny. The chorus was:

The War Bride ate her War Bread In silence alone. Her hart was sad & heavy, She knew that he had perished In the fongy graf.

That cudden eat no war bread Unless it was burnt toast.

You see, Bobbie, sed Pa, ware that poor husband went after he died. That shud be a lesson to you to be good, sed Pa, & then you will go to a nice cool place wen yure time comes, & you will find me there, too, sed Pa & yure mother. All good peaput take things cool after they go from here, sed Pa.
